Contractual agreement (as well as instructions and rules):

The following obligations apply to all four residencies and must be accepted by the applicants and signed by the four selected scholarship recipients as a condition of the scholarship.

Residency obligation applies. If it becomes apparent that you cannot be present for the entire duration, you are obligated to inform the organizers in Berlin via email at residenzen@hausdespapiers.com within two calendar days of learning about it. With this notification, the scholarship offer from Haus des Papiers is freely revocable, and within five working days, Haus des Papiers will inform you whether the scholarship has been revoked. In the event of revocation, Haus des Papiers has no obligation, and there are no compensation or damages claims on your part resulting from the award and revocation of the scholarship. The same applies in the case of illness or sudden family caregiving responsibilities. You are obliged to notify us within two working days. No fault on your part is considered.

- The scholarship and residency rights are personal and cannot be transferred by the scholarship recipients to others. By violating the mandatory attendance for more than five workdays, with or without interruptions in total, Haus des Papiers is entitled to immediate and unconditional termination of the scholarship. The right to terminate must be exercised within ten working days after becoming aware of the termination reason.
- The studio atelier in Berlin is available daily from 09:00 to 17:00, including weekends. It should start between 9:00 and 10:00 in the morning. It is possible, by arrangement, to use the studio longer in the evening but not exceeding 20:00.
- The residency requirement includes a minimum usage of the studio of six hours daily without breaks, starting between 09:00 and 10:00.
- The studio atelier in Munich and KunstOrt Lehnin is continuously available.
- The respective house rules of the studios apply.
- All provided papers are residency-bound: Unprocessed papers remain the property of Paper Residency! and are available to all future scholarship recipients.
- During the Berlin residencies, as much printing as desired is allowed. However, the prints must be artistically manipulated or sculpturally used in a three-dimensional manner during the residency.
- It is not allowed to print for others and provide them with these prints for further use. Any resulting costs can be invoiced to the scholarship recipient by Haus des Papiers

- At least one adequate artwork of our choice created during the residencies remains the property of Paper Residency! and becomes part of the collection of the non-profit museum Haus des Papiers. The artwork may be publicly displayed at Paper Residency! and Haus des Papiers stands at paper art fairs and for documentation and catalog purposes.
- Scholarship recipients must sign these agreements and rules before the start of the residency. Without written consent, the residency cannot be granted.
- Paper Residency! promotes the creative use of FineArt papers and advocates paper art in general. For this purpose, photos are taken of all scholarship recipients or the studio towards the end of the residency and used in connection with the residencies on social media channels. A documentary film about the scholarship recipients may be produced. Both photos and the documentary may be used by Paper Residency! (Berlin and Munich) and supporting companies in connection with the residencies. All photos and documentation are created in consultation with the scholarship recipients and do not show details of the artistic work or show details only with the explicit consent of the scholarship recipient
- For the documentary film, a summarizing English subtitle will be created, with no claim to be a literal translation.
- The residency is awarded exclusively to an individual based on the submitted application documents. It is not possible for artist groups to apply. Likewise, the scholarship recipient is not allowed to subsequently admit additional members to the residency or print files for members of an artist group. Abuse of these rules will result in at least the termination of the residency by immediate termination, subject to further consequences such as damages and cost reimbursement claims.
- Accommodation: Residents will be provided with a small apartment (Berlin and KunstOrt Lehnin) or a room in an artists' shared flat (Munich) for the duration of the residency. This accommodation is available one day before the start of the residency and one day after the end of the residency (in Berlin from Sunday to Monday, in Munich and KunstOrt Lehnin by arrangement). Fresh bed linen and towels are provided. These accommodations are exclusively for the residencies. It is not allowed to receive overnight guests or family members in the accommodation. This decision aims to ensure that the residency is focused on the continued development of personal artistic work.
